LOG IT OR LOSE IT is a campaign to encourage citizens and business owners to record their property in a manner that will help the police return the item to its rightful owner if recovered. Police recover thousands of items yearly that are auctioned because the theft was never reported or the owners did not have a record of their property. Help the VPD change this by recording all of your property information.

LOCK IT!

- It takes only seconds for something to be stolen
- Ensure your property is secured with an appropriate locking device that's in good working order
- Close your garage door if you are not working where you can see it
- Don't leave valuables in your vehicle

ENGRAVE IT!

Most of the local Community Policing Centres offer engraving services. Some offices allow you to sign out engravers to take home and mark personal property. There are many different third party services that allow you to place decals with numbers that are registered back to you.

- Ensure the marking is permanent!
- Engrave your B.C. driver's license or B.C. Identification Card number

RECORD IT!

- Record your property on paper or on an electronic spreadsheet
- Record the following information:
 - o serial number
 - o make
 - o model
 - o colour
 - o any identifying or unique marks
- Save this information in multiple locations that is easily accessible (make sure you retain a hard copy)
- If larger items don't have serial numbers, then engrave your driver's license number or government issued identification number

PHOTOGRAPH IT!

- Take photos or video of items that don't have easily recorded markings, such as:
 - o jewellery
 - o art
 - o family heirlooms
 - o antiques
- Save this information in multiple locations that are easily accessible. Consider saving the photos or video to a disc or an external hard drive (or both), hidden away from your computer

REPORT IT!

If your property goes missing, report it. Thousands of items obtained from crime are recovered, but if investigators can't identify the owner, the property is auctioned off.
